To-day's Paper is Full of Important "Business News"

Home-management is a "business" of greater importance, and engages the attention of more people, than any other business in the world. Every family is a business concern. If the management is wise, the family prospers in a material way. If the management is careless, inefficient, the family is always on the verge of business failure.

Home-managers have learned that buying for the home, and for the home-folks, is a purely "business matter." That's why, to them, The Times-Dispatch is, primarily, a "business newspaper." For, in its advertising columns, it affords them timely suggestions for carrying on this great business of home-management WISELY and ECONOMICALLY.

The interested home-manager watches the "ads" in her morning paper for buying opportunities with that concentrated interest a business man shows in "news" bearing upon his particular branch of industry or trade.

She UTILIZES the cash-value facts and suggestions which she finds in the "ads" in her morning newspaper—for they are presented to her AT A TIME OF DAY WHEN THERE IS STILL OPPORTUNITY TO VISIT THE STORES ON THE SAME DAY.

DRIVER OF FISH WAGON KILLED BY LOCOMOTIVE

Harry Jones, colored, died last night at 9:30 o'clock at the Retreat for the Sick, from injuries received three hours earlier, when the train was run over by an engine of the Southern Railway in Fulton. The accident occurred at 6:30 o'clock, and was caused, it is stated, by gates at Williamsburg Avenue not being lowered as a warning of the approaching train.

Jones was driving a team and had on a load of fish. The wagon was struck by the locomotive, a shifter, and he was thrown directly beneath the wheels. One leg was crushed at the thigh. He was taken to the hospital by Dr. M. L. Boyle, Jr., City Hospital ambulance surgeon, and there an operation was performed. Death resulted from the injury, combined with the severe shock.

Occurring at the early hour, the accident was seen by a large number of persons. That the gates were lowered was denied by several of them, and in this they are substantiated by the fact that the wagon was driven across the tracks in the path of the locomotive. The horse escaped serious injury, although the wagon was demolished. The fish were scattered all around the street.

COMPROMISE REACHED IN RICE SUIT TRIAL

Upon agreement between counsel, the jury in the Law and Equity Court hearing the suit of Mrs. Emma Rice, administratrix of James G. Rice, against the Southern Railway Company, returned a verdict yesterday for the defendant. Under the compromise the Southern Railway Company agreed to settle a certain amount of the claim on Mrs. Rice.

Rice was killed in an accident on December 31, 1910, when the engine he was driving left the tracks in Fourteenth Street, crashed across the street, ran into the railway yards and collided with a freight car, toppling over. The plaintiff alleged that the track was defective, while the defendant alleged that the engineer was driving at a speed estimated at between twelve and twenty miles an hour, while a city ordinance limits the speed to four miles an hour. In the first trial judgment was found for the plaintiff, but the verdict was reversed by the State Supreme Court on Appeal, and the case sent back for a new trial. The suit was for $10,000. Attorneys Hunsdon Cary and William Rump Tucker represented the plaintiff, and Attorneys E. R. Williams and Eppa Hinton, Jr., represented the railway company.

PROPERTY OWNERS CUT DOWN PRICES

Offer Land to Widen Fifteenth Street at Much Less Than Former Valuations.

NEGOTIATIONS NOT YET OFF

City Still Hopes to Get Aid of Southern Railway in Providing Bridge Approaches.

Immediately after a proposition to reopen the negotiations to widen Fifteenth Street by the dedication of certain property, at a cost less than that at which it was appraised by a commission more than a year ago, was made by Leroy Brown, of the real estate firm of J. Thompson Brown & Co., Morgan R. Mills, chairman of the Subcommittee on Bridge Approaches, announced that the Subcommittee yesterday afternoon that he was not yet ready to report on the negotiations between his committee and the Southern Railway Company. He said that the negotiations between the Subcommittee and the railway company had not been terminated by the conference held last week in the City Attorney's office, and that there was still a chance that some agreement might be effected. He stated that he had received a letter from the counsel of the railway company, showing a spirit of compromise, and he believed that it is still possible that the friendly conference would continue until a definite scheme for widening Fourteenth Street agreeable both to the city and the railway company could be mapped out. The criticism of the stand the railway company had taken, he said, had been misdirected.

PROPERTY OWNERS COME DOWN IN PRICE

Mr. Brown read to the committee a lengthy statement of the proposition of the majority of the property-holders on Fifteenth Street. Each of the parties to the tentative agreement is willing to make a considerable reduction in the price set upon his property, by the appraisers appointed by Judge D. C. Richardson more than a year ago. The total price set by the commission was more than $200,000, and was generally regarded as the most exorbitant that the City Council practically refused even to hear it, and all negotiations were abruptly ended. Mr. Brown's proposition considered a width of eighty feet between Main and Cary Streets, and a sufficient width from Cary Street to Mayo's Bridge. In view of Mr. Mills's statement, the committee referred Mr. Brown's proposition to a subcommittee. Mark Gunst was acting chairman in the absence of Gilbert K. Pollock, and he left the appointment of the committee to the latter.

At the urgent plea of Attorney A. B. Gulgon, of counsel for the Virginia Railway and Power Company, an extension of twelve months' time in which to complete the construction of railway tracks westward on Broad Street, from Shepherd Street to the Rosemeath Road, was recommended. Captain Gulgon stated that the company had found it impossible to finish the construction of the additional track in the time limit set by the franchise granted by the City Council last July.

"I think," said Captain Gulgon, "that the company is in honor bound to build the additional track, and I believe it will be done. If the extension of time is refused us, we forfeit the $5,000 bond, and the city will get $5,000; but the franchise might be surrendered, and really nothing will have been gained. If the time limit is extended, I feel sure that the additional tracks will be constructed." Under the terms of the franchise the railway company is liable to a forfeiture of $5,000 if the work be not completed within the time specified. Captain Moore opposed extending the time limit until the property-holders on West Broad Street could be heard from. The committee decided, however, to recommend.

President W. T. Reed, former president, T. M. Carrington and others, of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the committee to ask that it recommend the appropriation for the reconstruction of ten miles of the Petersburg Turnpike. The matter was referred to a subcommittee, to be appointed by Chairman Pollock. Mr. Carrington said that $2,000 would be needed for the first mile, $1,000 for the second mile and $1,000 for the remainder of the distance. Others who urged the appropriation were O. Herbert Funsten and Thomas P. Bryan. They stated that 95 per cent of the damage done to the pike was inflicted by Richmond people, and as the road is used more by Richmond than by Chesterfield people themselves, they thought it was rather upon the city to assume the obligation of restoring what it had so greatly helped to destroy. It was also pointed out that the Petersburg Turnpike is an important link in the Washington to Atlanta highway, and should be placed in good condition as an advertisement to the city. Mr. Bryan stated that the work would be superintended by engineers of the Federal government, and would be made a fine and permanent exhibit of roadway. On motion of Mr. Mills the matter was referred to a subcommittee, which shall confer with the City Engineer and the City Attorney.

New Members Elected.

Several new members were elected to the First Virginia Regiment Association in its meeting last night. Captain A. C. Crayfield, president, presided. After routine business was finished, the association adjourned until the September meeting.

MAKE VAIN EFFORT TO SAVE SWIMMER

Henry Koch Is Drowned at Playground Swimming Pool in James River.

STRIKES HEAD ON ROCK LEDGE

John Pugh and Willie Cook Make Gallant Effort to Effect Rescue.

While two small boys battled gamely to save his life, Henry Koch, thirty-three years old, of 413 North Twenty-second Street, was drowned yesterday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock in the playground swimming pool in the James River at the foot of Twelfth Street, during the absence of the instructor. Two plucky lads—John Pugh and Willie Cook, each twelve years old—succeeded in bringing the body to shore after a heroic struggle, only to find that their efforts were in vain.

The accident was unobserved, with the exception of the two youthful spectators, who were both sitting on the bank when Koch went in for a dip. He dived over, and according to the boys came up, but in less than a minute threw his hands above his head, and slowly sank from sight. The lads had been disrobing, and both went for the drowning man. They brought him to the surface, but as he did not struggle, it is presumed that he was already dead.

Unable to hold the heavy burden and swim, the boys caught a floating bush, and finally pulled Koch upon it. With one holding him on the precarious perch, the other towed it to the bank. Just as they reached it, several men ran up and helped get the body out of the water, and save the lads, who were exhausted by their strenuous work.

STRIKES HEAD ON SHARP ROCK LEDGE

First aid methods were tried by the men, while a hurry call was sent in for the City Hospital ambulance, which, with Dr. M. L. Boyle, Jr. in charge, made a record in reaching the spot, however, and all efforts to revive him were fruitless. An examination disclosed a deep scalp wound, which leads to the belief that Koch, who is a bookkeeper employed at the Amherst-Busch Bottling Association, Seventh and Canal Streets, had finished his work for the day, and took a dip in the river, as he had been told that the water was cool after his long summer, to cool off after his long summer. The body was viewed by Coroner Taylor, and was ordered turned over to the family for burial. An inquest was considered unnecessary.

WOULD SET ASIDE VERDICT

Argument Heard in Suit of Rohr Against First Baptist Church.

Argument to set aside the verdict rendered for the plaintiff in the suit of Frank C. Rohr against the trustees of the First Baptist Church was heard by Judge J. M. Muller yesterday in the City Circuit Court. Judgment for damages in the sum of $2,500 was awarded Rohr in the trial about two years ago. Rohr, who is a medical college of Virginia, fell through a broken coal chute belonging to the First Baptist Church, and broke a leg, which has since become paralyzed.

Judge Muller told the jury to set aside the verdict. The trial was before Judge R. Carter Scott.

JURY CUTS FINE

Hustings Court Lets Speeder Convicted in Police Court Off at $10.

Ralph Marshall, a chauffeur, of 2212 Venable Street, appealing from a fine of $100 imposed on him in Police Court for speeding, was fined $10 by a jury in the Hustings Court yesterday. He said that he speeded a short distance to escape the dust of another car.

Peter Robinson, colored, charged with breaking into the stable of Samuel Steele, was sentenced to four months in jail, and to pay a fine of $5. James Mitchell, colored, was fined $20 for carrying a concealed dirk.

Cars Are Detained.

Considerable damage was done yesterday morning, when several freight cars being shifted by a switch engine on the Chesapeake and Ohio viaduct, at the foot of Seventh Street, broke loose and five cars were derailed. Within half an hour hurried to the scene of the derailment, had the track cleared.

Four cars, carrying five cars in the train, which was in charge of Conductor W. J. Mason and Engineer E. G. Clark, one was injured. The derailment resulted when the cars were "kicked" with undue force by the shifting engine.

HAS GOOD CHANCE, SAYS BISHOP DENNY

Strong Pull May Secure Big Methodist University for Virginia.

GEORGIA ALREADY AT WORK

Commission Named to Locate $5,000,000 Institution East of Mississippi River.

Virginia has a splendid opportunity to secure within its borders the location of a great Methodist university, to be established soon at an enormous expenditure by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at some point east of the Mississippi River, to take the place of Vanderbilt University, whose control by reason of a recent court decision has been lost to the church. As far as can be learned, Virginia Methodists have made no effort as yet to secure the institution, but it is thought that this State will certainly enter the race within a short time.

COMMISSION NAMED BY GENERAL CONFERENCE

At the recent general conference the matter of selecting a site for the university was placed in the hands of a commission of sixteen, and this commission, at its meeting in Birmingham, referred the proposition to a subcommittee of five, of which Bishop W. A. Candler is chairman. This subcommittee is to meet for the purpose of considering offers and propositions submitted by various States some time between now and July 15, at the call of the chairman. States, cities and conferences desiring to submit propositions would therefore do well to get their shape and in the hands of the committee at the earliest possible time. It has been stated that the equivalent of $1,000,000 would be necessary to justify the serious consideration of any site. The committee, of course, will not be guided solely by monetary considerations, and the university will without doubt be located where it is thought the institution will best serve the interests of the people and of the church in the best manner. The committee, it is thought, would not be induced to select any site, simply by reason of the fact that such a great and important little more inducement in the matter of dollars and cents than some other place. Many things are to be considered before a final decision is made of locating the institution in the matter of $5,000,000.

IN ESTABLISHING INSTITUTION

From statements given out by officials of the Methodist Church, the university soon to be established would distinguish any section wherein it may be placed. Something of the general effect which the university will have upon the educational and religious life of the South will be realized with the statement that those in charge of the project propose to award $2,500,000 to the university, with the probability of making the institution twice as great a little later on. One hundred acres or more would probably be needed for the plant, and it is believed that at least fifty acres would be absolutely necessary as a site. Nothing has been said as to whether city or county will have provided in the matter of selecting a site.

Four Methodist bishops, four ministers and eight laymen, representing various sections of the Southern Methodist Church, composed the commission in whose hands rests the matter of locating a site for the university. This is the commission created by the recent general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Nashville, and the commission was instructed to establish two universities in the South—one east of the Mississippi, and the other west of that river, and to supervise and direct all details of their organization until the two institutions are finally ready to begin actual work.

AS WESTERN LOCATION

Dallas, Texas, has been named as the point for locating the Western institution, as the conferences of Texas have recently established a $2,000,000 plant, and that institution will now be made a $5,000,000 university. Dr. Robert Stuart Higher, a graduate of Emory and a native of Georgia, has been appointed head of this institution.

It is said that North Carolinians are making a strong effort to have Trinity College, at Durham, a widely-known Methodist institution, converted into the great Methodist university, and it is being pointed out that this college is already one of the most handsomely-equipped institutions in the entire South.

Many believe that should Virginia enter the race, she would have a strong chance to secure the university. It is believed that the logical point for locating the greater institution. With its fine record, fine equipment, well-established prestige and its proximity to Richmond, Randolph-Macon College could offer many inducements to the commission that will locate the university. Should Richmond enter the race for the great Methodist institution, many reasons why this city would be an ideal location for the university might be mentioned. Leaders in several of the local Methodist churches are enthusiastic over the probability that Richmond may be named, and while as yet no organized movement has been launched to influence the commission to select this city, it is understood that tentative plans to begin a movement of this kind are under way. It is believed that Atlanta would offer the strongest opposition should Richmond enter the race.

Fined for Sunday Selling.

Alleged blind tigers got their bumps yesterday in Police Court, when two persons charged with selling refreshments heavily fined. A fine of $100 was imposed in each case.

Constantinides, a native Greek, was one of the defendants, while Lillian Simonton, colored, 24 North Fifth Street, was the other. The Greek admitted selling refreshments on the Sabbath, but denied that he sold tincture. He was put under $500 bond for twelve months.

BOARD FAILS TO MUSTER QUORUM OF MEMBERS

Camp Site Question Still Hangs Unsettled, With Encampment Date Approaching.

NO ACTION ON COLLEGE SEWER

Poor Attendance of Aldermen Ties Up Important Items of City Business—State Troops May Go to Gordonsville.

With only seven members present, the Board of Aldermen last night failed to muster a quorum, and the matter of appropriating $6,000 for placing the State Fair Grounds in sanitary condition against the State encampment in July must be put until it comes before called meetings of both branches of the City Council. The question of permitting Richmond College to construct a sewer from its property at Westhampton to the James River, across the Incorporated City, was also held up, for which the special meeting had been called, must also lay over.

President William H. Adams adjourned the Board without calling another special session. Haste had been urged by the State Military Board when it appeared before the Finance Committee last week, as it was stated that it had only forty-eight hours in which it could wait to hear what action the City Council would be likely to take on its request for an appropriation. Further delay is now caused, but matters have gone so far, it is believed, that the proposed sewer from the State Fair Grounds, for which the encampment must almost necessarily be held at the State Fair Grounds, SAID TO BE EVERY ENCAMPMENT.

There seems, however, every desire on the part of members of both branches of the City Council to make the appropriation asked for, and it is likely that President R. Lee Peters will call a special meeting of the Common Council one day this week to act on the matter. Within three days after the meeting of the Common Council the Board of Aldermen could be called again, and the appropriation still be passed in time for all preparations to be made. It would require a session or two days to construct the necessary sewer in the Fair Grounds and to make the water and lighting arrangements.

None of the military board was present last night, and there was no representative of Richmond College. Those of the Aldermen present were: President Adams, Colonel Barton H. Grundy, Joseph E. Powers, W. J. Gilman, John J. Mitchell, Lawrence Paul and J. H. Perdue. Marx Gunst telephoned that he was ill. Alderman W. H. Melton is out of the city. John B. Hilley and A. C. Nelson arrived yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Eight constituents, quorum, but it requires two-thirds, or ten, to pass appropriations, and if Melton and Mr. Nelson had arrived in time, there would not have been the number requisite to pass upon the appropriation.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF JOHN PURCELL DABNEY

Body of Young Man Drowned When Motor Car Runs Off Ferry in Buried in Hollywood.

The funeral of John Purcell Dabney, the young Richmond man drowned Saturday night when his automobile was in the river, was held at the funeral home of Dr. M. L. Boyle, Jr., City Hospital ambulance surgeon, and was attended by a large number of friends. The body was buried in the cemetery at Aylett, Va., wedging him in the driver's seat in fifteen feet of water, which took place from the First Baptist Church yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Burial in Hollywood was private, but a large number of friends of the drowned man attended the church service.

Because of the tragic death of young Dabney, the First Baptist Church has postponed its picnic, which was to have been held at Lakeside Park to-day, until Tuesday of next week. Mr. Dabney was a member of this church, and is said to have been very popular with the members of the congregation.

This is the second picnic which has been postponed on account of drowning within a week. The first was the Baptist Sunday School postponed its outing to Forest Hill because of the death of Alvin Hill, a Boy Scout, who was drowned in a quarry near Dumbarton. The following acted as pallbearers at the funeral yesterday afternoon: W. L. Austin, Arthur Gentry, C. F. Fortner, Vincent Mosley, E. W. Eubank, L. B. Pittman, L. T. Hudspeth and H. L. Cook.

MACHEN COMMISSIONED

Officially Appointed Director of Legislation.

Governor Stuart yesterday signed the commission naming Lewis H. Machen, of Alexandria, Va., as Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau. The act creating this office has just become effective.

Mr. Machen was in Richmond yesterday making preparations to assume his new duties. He will open an office in the State Library Building, where it is believed that space on the second floor may be had.

Mr. Machen is well known through the State. He is a lawyer, formerly a member of the State Senate, and has been identified with newspaper work. He was a candidate for Lieutenant Governor during the last campaign. Mr. Machen qualified yesterday before Judge D. C. Richardson, in the Hustings Court.

MERCURY DROPS, AND THEN SOARS UP TO 98

Richmond Again Heads List as Hottest City in United States.

ONE PROSTRATION REPORTED

Slight Shower Brings Temporary Relief—Threatened Thunderstorm Does Not Materialize—Untold Damage Caused by Drought.

Yesterday was another day on which the mercury climbed close to the top of the tube, another twelve hours during which people toiled and perspired until they were nearly ready to drop from exhaustion. The atmosphere was humid, and there was no breeze until midnight to carry off the dampness that hung so heavily in the air. At 9 o'clock the mercury had reached 97 degrees, but an hour later it began to drop, and at 2 o'clock it had come down to 82 degrees. But the fall was only temporary, for slowly the quicksilver rose again, until it reached the maximum of the day, 98 degrees. And it was a long day—nearly ten hours of sunlight—for the sun got up and dressed at 4:50 o'clock, and did not go to bed behind the far western hills until 8:30 o'clock, and by that time everybody else was ready for the couch and the drapery of pleasant dreams.

There was one heat prostration during the day. Robert Hopton, colored, who lives on Chelsea Hill, was overcome on West Broad Street. He was attended by Dr. M. L. Boyle, Jr., City Hospital ambulance surgeon, and was removed to the hospital.

In Louisville, St. Louis and Montgomery the thermometer registered 97 degrees, Richmond still maintaining its position at the head of the list among the hottest cities in the United States. There was a slight shower in the afternoon, but the heavy thunderstorm which promised to flood the thirty earth drifted down the river, and the grass in Capitol Square is still sere and brown. Untold damage has already been done in the country by the drought, and rain will now afford but little relief to the farmers. Showers are promised for to-day.
